The core thread of the exhibition that binds the works of the five together is the idea of homeland, culture and identity. The lands they belong to are often represented in their works through the vastness of landscape, architectural elements, rhythm of patterns, people in their solitary moments and metaphorical objects around them.

"The five individuals, hailing from five geographical locations (Bangladesh, India, Iran, Nepal and Pakistan), have found distinct ways to represent their respective homeland from an insider's perspective. The lens that captures the moments is, more often than not, compassionate, poetic and that of a flâneur," a note from the organisers said.

The other participants are Abdul Musawir Shabbir (Pakistan), Binaya Humagain (Nepal), Mohsen Sakha (Iran) and Naim Ul Hasan (Bangladesh).

The virtual exhibition which began on October 5 on www.dhiart.com, will conclude on November 8.

Founded in 2014, Dhi Artspace was envisioned as an incubator for young talents and a seamless space for dialogue on contemporary art that represents upcoming artists.

Dhi Artspace is centrally located in the city of Hyderabad, with the gallery having finest display facility and a fully equipped printmaking studio open for art practitioners.
